STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Part IX of the Prisoners Act, 1900, deals with the attendance of prisoners and obtaining their evidence in courts. Some of the provisions in this Part for securing the attendance of a prisoner in court to give evidence or to stand his trial, are cumbersome and result in avoidable delay in the trial of criminal cases and in needless detention of prisoners who are already under trial.

The Bill seeks to simplify the procedure for securing the attendance of prisoners in courts by repealing Part IX of the Prisoners Act and re-enacting its provisions with suitable modifications as a separate law while extending at the same time the provisions of this law to the whole of India except Jammu and Kashmir. The Bill provides that any civil or criminal court may, if it thinks that the evidence of any person confined in any prison is material in respect of any matter pending before it, make an order in the prescribed form and send that order direct to the officer-in-charge of the prison who will be required to comply with it. It will not be necessary, as at present, to send such an order to the district or sub-divisional magistrate of the area where the prison is situated or to the Government of the State if the prisoner is in a different State. No civil court may, however, make an order in respect of a person confined in a prison situate outside the State in which the court is held. In such cases, a commission may suffice. The Bill also provides (as section 43 of the present Act) that in certain circumstances and subject to certain exceptions the officer-in-charge of the prison may abstain from carrying out the order, as for example, where the prisoner is unfit to be removed by reason of sickness or other infirmity or is under committal for trial or is in custody for a period which would expire before the date on which he is required to be produced before the court.
